A Turning Point in Senior Living!

May 2018

CELEBRATING TRAILBLAZING WOMEN: Four accomplished New Horizons residents graciously agreed to take part in a panel to share their remarkable stories. Barbara Rule is author of Polar Knight: the Mystery of Sir John Franklin. The book sets right history's misconceptions concerning her ancestor's ill-fated Northwest Passage expedition of 1845. Harlene Briggs found a career in the FBI's Identification Division. Her talents on the court earned her a coveted spot on the Bureau's women's basketball team. First-generation American Edie Venti Orr put herself through design school and worked for the prestigious bridal gown maker Priscilla of Boston, as well as for famed fashion designer Alfred Fiandaca. During her 38 years at the JFK Presidential Library, Megan Desnoyers worked with both Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and Caroline Kennedy Schlossberg to chronicle the Kennedy family. Another interesting claim to fame is her experience personally transporting the restored Emancipation Proclamation to Washington, D.C.!

UPLIFTING! Residents were mesmerized by a dazzling floor demonstration from professional pair skaters Kylie Duarte and Andrew Speroff (pictured). The newly engaged couple spent five years on Team USA. After some graceful lifts, they narrated a film about their fabulous ice show. Their trainer is Beth-Anne Duxbury, daughter of resident Nancy Duxbury.

HIGH STAKES FUN: O'Connor Town Common was transformed into a scene out of "Casablanca" for Casino Night (by Day). New Horizons at Marlborough staff became croupiers and dealers, spinning the roulette wheel, doling out winning hands for blackjack and Texas hold 'em, and rolling the dice for craps (only chips exchanged hands). At the end of the day, resident Gil Zucker was our highest high roller.

BRINGING DOWN THE HOUSE! New Horizons' Resident Talent Show played to a capacity crowd in O'Connor Town Common. It was a dazzling display of musical and dramatic talent!

ART STUDIO OPENING:

Resident Carol Olsen (pictured) led the ribbon-cutting ceremony for our new, light-filled resident art studio. Carol shepherded the project from vision to fruition. The event was celebrated with chocolate-covered strawberries, champagne, and an art display!
